Breaking News! The Selected ASTM Standards are back and in a new digital form.

We partnered with ASTM to create an online subscription that will make meeting your contract requirements much easier going forward--no worrying about supply or updates. As a subscriber, you'll always have the latest standards (including downloadable PDFs) at your fingertips.

When you subscribe, you'll receive access within 24 hours—no more waiting for your new standard to ship! Visit the ASTM Online Access page for more information on what standards are included and how to purchase your subscription. (AISC will no longer be publishing a printed book.)

Section 5.3 of the Governing Requirements for Certification Programs has been revised to reflect this change, and you must meet this updated requirement within 60 days of the Bulletin's published date.

“Participants and Applicants must have either a subscription to AISC's ASTM Online Portal, equivalent content, or the individual ASTM standards mandated by the Standard or your contract documents. Additionally, you must have any additional standards deemed necessary to ensure your personnel understands the work requirements. This is a revision to Section 1.3c of the Standard.”

If you have any questions about the change, please don't hesitate to contact AISC Certification at certification@aisc.org or 312.670.7520.
