benefits include

Associate Members of the American Institute of Steel Construction enjoy many benefits, both professional and economic, including the following:

- Access to AISC's Membership Directory complete with names, titles and phone numbers and the opportunity to meet and work with AISC members.
- Extensive member discounts, ranging from 10% on advertising in Modern Steel Construction to 50% on publications and software, workshops, seminars and conferences, and hundreds of dollars in savings on booth space at NASCC: The Steel Conference.
- A free enhanced listing on Modern Steel Construction's online interactive Product Directory (value of $3,500/year) and discounts on job postings.
- One complimentary digital subscription to Engineering Journal.
- Technical assistance from our engineering staff at the Steel Solutions Center (aisc.org/solutions).
- The use of the AISC Associate Member logo on company letterhead, business cards, websites and in advertising, as well as a membership plaque issued to all Associate Members.
- A direct internet link from the AISC website directly to our member websites, dramatically increasing your visibility (for web statistics, visit the AISC website at www.aisc.org).

notes

Associate Members who perform services or function in the capacity of a Full Member, i.e., contract or subcontract for the fabrication of structural steel, shall be responsible for the payment of Full Member dues tonnage and the payment of dues in the same manner as a Full Member to the nature and extent of such contracting or subcontracting. The annual dues for Associate Members shall be applied as credit toward the amount of dues owed for tonnage purchased/shipped.

AISC membership dues are not deductible as charitable contributions for Federal Tax purposes, however, they are deductible as an ordinary and necessary business expense.
